

12 April 2020

Dear Graduate:

On behalf of the faculty and staff in the Department of Plant and Wildlife Sciences, let me offer a HUGE CONGRATULATIONS! It has been an honor for us to be a part of your BYU education. Learning together in classrooms, laboratories, and offices has been a blessing for us. While we hope we have helped in your academic learning, we also hope that you have felt of our faith.

Successfully completing your degree represents countless assignments, papers, labs, quizzes, and tests. The process has included a huge investment in tuition, time, lost sleep, periods of discouragement, and lots of exciting discovery. If you had seen a list of challenges you would face to arrive at this graduation, you may not have believed you could do it. But you succeeded! If you feel anxious about the next steps in your life, let your graduation serve as a reminder of what you can achieve through dedication and faith.

You have become a member of our PWS family. We hope the relationships you made during this time will continue to bless your life. Please stay connected with us as you look forward to the challenges and opportunities ahead.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Neil C. Hansen".

Dr. Neil C. Hansen, Chair Department of Plant and Wildlife Sciences